(54) Title: A METHOD FOR SELECTIVELY GENERATING A FLOW OF GAS FROM AN OPEN END OF A TUBULAR BODY, SUCH AS A HOSE

(57) Abstract

A flow of gas through a tubular body (13, 14) is provided selectively by connecting the tubular body directly to a gas outlet of a gas compressor (10) without any intermediate compressed air container. The operation of the compressor is started when the gas flow is to be initiated, and the gas flow is stopped by stopping the operation of the compressor. The tubular body or nozzle may comprise a wall part made from a resilient material. The open free end of the tubular body may then be at least partly closed and subsequently reopened while the compressor (10) is still operating, so as to temporarily expand the resilient wall part. Thereby a pressure pulse may be generated. The air flow may be used by a dentist for cleaning teeth.
